* if there are multiple answers for a prefix (example - hinöe's / deninöe's) in most cases the most commonly heard is listed first, however, learners should be aware of both since there is the possibility of hearing either used depending on speaker preference.

The words using prefixes involving “she” or “her” -- yenőe’s, gonőe’s, kenőe’s, shenőe’s, shagonőe’s, öknőe’s, ösánőe’s, höwönőe’s, yödáhnőe’s– have additional meanings. They can also mean: “someone,” – anyone, an unknown or unspecified person – or “they” or “them” an unknown or unspecified group of people. So, yenőe’s has three possible meanings:

- she (a known, identifiable, female person) likes it;
- someone (an unknown or unspecified person) likes it
- they (an unknown or unspecified group of people) like it

Likewise, gonőe’s has three possible meanings:

- it likes her (a known, identifiable, female person)
- it likes someone (an unknown or unspecified person)
- it likes them (an unknown or unspecified group of people)

Words using purple prefixes, like kenőe’s also have three possible meanings:

- I like her (a known, identifiable, female person)
- I like someone (an unknown or unspecified person)
- I like them (an unknown or unspecified group of people)

And, gonőe’s / yödáhnőe’s, then, has nine possible meanings:

- she likes her
- she likes someone
- she likes them
- someone likes her
- someone likes someone
- someone likes them
- they like her
- they like someone
- they like them

The “male” prefixes involving more than one person -- hinőe’s, hadínőe’s, hodínőe’s – has an additional meaning. They can also mean a mixed group of males and females. So, hinőe’s has two possible meanings:

- two males like it
- one male and one female like it

Similarly, hadínőe’s has two possible meanings:

- a group of three or more males like it
- a mixed group of three or more males and females like it

Likewise, hodínőe’s has two possible meanings:

- it likes a group of two or more males
- it likes a mixed group of two or more males and females

The “female” prefixes involving more than one person -- kninőe’s, wadínőe’s, odínőe’s – has an additional meaning. They can also mean a group of animals. So, kninőe’s has two possible meanings:

- two females like it
- two animals like it

Similarly, wadínőe’s has two possible meanings:

- a group of three or more females like it
- a group of three or more animals like it

Likewise, odínőe’s has two possible meanings:

- it likes a group of two or more females
- it likes a group of two or more animals

The “it” prefix-- ganőe’s– has an additional meaning. It usually refers to a living creature -- an animal, bird, fish, insect, etc. – but it can also mean an unknown, unidentified, “generic” female person. So, ganőe’s has two possible meanings:

- an animal likes it
- an unknown, unidentified, “generic” female person likes it
